Earth and the Senate
Safety in Insurance
Good News, Generally
Senator Nye in a Hurry

The earth turns on its axis about 1,000 miles an hour, 25,000 miles in 24 hours. Because of its size, the earth's motion is slow.

At the same comparative rate of speed you could not detect any motion in a cart wheel revolving once in 24 hours.

However, as President Hoover justly complains, there is something slower, and that's the senate's motion on the tariff.

It has been considering a tariff bill, as the President says, "since June, with fifteen schedules to work out," and has not yet completed schedule I."

Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., head of General Motors, back from Europe, sees no "logical reason for such action as has occurred in security values."

Business is sound, says Mr. Sloan. He believes that the quarter earnings for General Motors will be ahead of the same period for last year.

Edsel Ford announces reductions in Ford prices, expressing the belief of the Ford organization that "basically, the industry and business of the country are sound."

There is no better contribution to prosperity than to give buyers more for their money, when greater efficiency makes that possible.

It isn't how much money you get, but what you get for your money, that counts.

F. H. Ecker, president of Metropolitan Life, biggest insurance company in the world, replies to a question concerning recent Wall Street excitement:

"Drastic deduction of market prices of shares of common stock in no wise affects life insurance policies issued by companies whose investment practice, guided by laws, such as those of the state of New York, or the sound judgment of executives, excludes common stock from their holdings."

"More than ever has this recent experience demonstrated that life insurance is the safest, most dependable repository for the savings of millions of our population, furnishing at the same time sound protection against loss which follows in the wake of death."

New Jersey, first among the states, has absolutely wiped out the gypsy moth.

Governor Larsen and the state agricultural department are to be congratulated on a fine achievement.

More money than Wall Street could lose in dozen panics would be saved if science could eliminate agricultural pests, boll weevil, corn borer and the rest of the army.

Excellent news comes from Florida as to the success of that state in dealing with the Mediterranean fruit fly. It has been a costly battle, but worth the money and trouble.

Samuel Insull and other big employers, following the example of Julius Rosenwald, supply money to protect employees from losses in stock speculation.

Henry Ford wouldn't agree with that idea. Two years ago when this writer mentioned certain stocks in which there were bound to be heavy losses, Ford said: "Of course, but that's the only way people can learn."

Whether it is wise not to let nature take its course in gambling as in other things, is questionable.

Senator Nye of North Dakota wants Wall Street and "all speculation nixed." What's more, he wants a remedy ready by February 1.

That's a short time for so big a job.

The Malay, in his breech-clout, bets on cock fights.

The proud red Indian piles up his shirt and blanket, bets them on a pony race, standing in dignified nudity. Two ways of getting something: one to work, the other to gamble.

Ninety per cent of human beings prefer the gambling way.

That will be changed a good deal later than February 1, 1930.

You will be glad to hear that the Federal Reserve board says the Wall Street earthquake is over, public fears calmed.

It may be permissible to remark therefore, while the earthquake is still fresh in many minds, that gambling is dangerous.

And it isn't necessary. There are other, better ways of making a living in the United States. In addition to which gambling is NO WAY to make a living.

It used to be said, "Wise man, take your profits." That has changed to "Wise man, take your losses." Meaning don't sell in a panic and regret at leisure.

Two more great oil fields have been found, one in Texas, one in Kansas. And it is called "a misfortune harmful to the price of oil stocks."

It ought to mean general satisfaction, proving the limitations wealth of this country. Unfortunately, oil companies and government combined have not learned to protect oil resources and prevent criminal waste.

G. RAPIDS COUPLE SEE 17 DEER IN HOUR

JOHN CRIPPS DIED WEDNESDAY P. M.

John B. Olney and wife of Grand Rapids were guests at the D. E. Matheson home Monday afternoon and evening while enroute home from a trip through the upper peninsula to Duluth. They were elated over their trip north and boasted of having seen three deer on their trip. The editor doesn't like to be outdone by stories of the upper north so took them on a little sightseeing trip, showing them some of the beauties of our wild country. Naturally they were taken down the AuSable river to the Durant cottage and from there to the E. P. Richardson farm, and did we see any deer? Well, just a few. Nearing Dubuque, three beauties were seen standing near the road. We then slipped over to the Richardson farm hoping to get a glimpse of a couple more. Parking our car alongside the road we waited but a couple of minutes when two were seen to come out of the woods for a taste of alfalfa, then came a couple of more, later the herd numbered eight, all in plain view. While watching them, across the field scampers a great big buck, jumping fences, ditches, etc., stopping near the junction of the roads to look at another car, then up the road into the underbrush. Then driving along the road on the west side of the farm three more were seen to cross the road ahead of our car and as we approached the end of the gravel here was another big buck feeding in the marsh less than 15 rods away. Despite our running ahead and backing up to get a good look at him he curried and laid down for a nap in the grass and all manner of noise failed to scare him out of his bed. Sixteen deer was the number seen in less than an hour's time. Roscommon Herald-News.

EDITH BALLARD-DUCLOS BROTH TO GRAYLING FOR BURIAL

The remains of Edith Ballard-Duclos were brot to Grayling for burial Monday, Nov. 4th from her late home in South Bend, Ind. Mrs. DuClos passed away at her home Friday, Nov. 1 at 6:55 p. m. Her death is attributed to a general breakdown in health.

Edith Ballard was born in Genesee county and was a daughter of John K. and Maria A. Ballard. The family moved to Grayling in 1902 where they resided until 1922. She was united in marriage to William DuClos in June, 1916. With her husband she removed to Niles, Mich., in 1922 where they resided for about three years after which they made their home in South Bend where Mrs. DuClos conducted a boarding house.

HUNTERS SHOOT PIG

Backus township farmers are not much elated over the forthcoming hunting season and are preparing to post their lands against hunting or trespassing. This comes about through the action of hunters during the recent partridge season when a party of poor sport hunters from down state deliberately shot and killed one of George Blair's brood sows, leaving a flock of little pigs motherless. When a pig looks like a bird or rabbit its time to call a halt, the farmers think, and perhaps they are right. Roscommon Herald-News.

A duel of the wilderness in which the vanquished was killed, his sides ripped open, was discovered by Conservation Officer A. J. Brockman of Vanderbilt in Osego County. Brockman discovered a spike horn buck in the woods, glaring at him and pawing the ground. Nearby was the body of a 225 pound prong-horn buck, killed in the fight. A doe and two fawns had been the only spectators to the battle.

Russell Robertson of Bay Port was here over the week-end visiting his mother Mrs. Peter Robertson.

Visit Miss Maxine Collen at her beauty shop in the Burke apartments. She will be open for business Monday, Nov. 11.

See the new slippers added to our bargain rack; 5 and 6 dollar values, $2.50, at Olson's.

George McCullough returned last week from a visit in Chicago and also with his daughter Mrs. George Land and family at Dowagiac.

A regular monthly meeting of the Nurse's Alumnae association was held at Mercy Hospital Tuesday evening.

Business matters were discussed and after the meeting lunch was served. Thomas Cassidy, Mrs. Victor Thelon and little daughter Barbara Ann accompanied by Joe Cassidy motored to Cadillac Tuesday. Mr. Cassidy and Mrs. Thelon went on to Grand Rapids and Joe returned home the same day.

Mr. and Mrs. Archie Cripps and their son Raymond Mark are here from Detroit owing to the former's father, John Cripps being seriously ill at his home. Mr. and Mrs. Cripps will remain in Grayling indefinitely.

Charles Hill, who has been a patient at Mercy Hospital suffering from an infection in his foot was dismissed Tuesday. Mrs. Harry LaBarge took Mr. Hill's place in school and Mrs. Lorane Sparks took charge of Mrs. LaBarge's grade.

Hallowe'en night passed off with but little unpleasantness. Of course the youngsters had a good time but it was mostly good clean pleasure and not of the destructive kind. Door bells were rung, windows were soaped, the curfew bell rung frequently throughout the early hours, but at that the youngsters were in general very well behaved. Night Marshal Johannes Rasmussen got some of the youngsters together and gave them a lecture on what should not be done—destruction of property. It is to his credit and to the credit of our young boys and girls that Hallowe'en went off merrily—but without nuisance.

Only one incident arose to mar an otherwise pleasant event and that was that someone destroyed the fence belonging to Peter Smith that separates one of his lots and the Mosher service station.

In spite of the already low prices, Edsel Ford, president of the Ford Motor Co. announces substantial reductions in prices of Ford cars and trucks. George Burke, the local dealer says there never was a time when anyone could get good cars for so little money.

To say that Mr. and Mrs. David Montour were proud of their new arrival would be putting it mild. It was a boy and he was born at Grayling Mercy Hospital Monday evening.

With seven girls in the family who wouldn't be happy over the arrival of a son? It seems next to impossible to find a name just suitable for him, but no doubt when he grows up it will be "Dave."

Lionel McClain was the lucky hunter Tuesday when he bagged three fine coons. He was hunting near Reindeer ranch when he discovered what looked like a round, fuzzy ball on the end of a tree limb. He soon discovered that it was alive and was a coon. After shooting the first one, two others came into view and the result was that he got them all. The pelts are very valuable, selling for from $12 to $15 each. Not a poor day's work.

There were 272 children given toxin-anitoxin at the school yesterday forenoon which number was 22 more than were present last Wednesday. However those who were late in getting started or missed the first dose are asked to come again next Wednesday between the hours of 8 and 11 o'clock and then on Wednesday, November 20th, between 8 and 9:30 o'clock for the last shot.

Of course those who have had two doses will receive the last one next Wednesday, November 13, so mothers don't forget to have your children there.

Hunters' feet and hands must be warm. Get fixed up at Olson's Shoe Store.

This community may never need the aid of the Red Cross in a large degree still its very influence is spread over our community just the same. Keeping people well is a big part of the program of the Red Cross, and its work is carried on largely thru the schools. Then, too, whenever there are large disasters the Red Cross is almost certain to be on hand. The annual roll call is on at this time. They need your help.

Please respond as liberally as you feel able to. There will be a Red Cross booth in front of the post office next week Wednesday and Thursday with attendants to accept your donation. Please help—be a member of this great humane organization.

What about carbon that mechanics can't reach?

Considerable carbon forms on the underside of piston heads. Naturally, this carbon can be reached only by removing the pistons.

When this carbon is hard and flinty, gritty particles chip off and drop into the crankcase. Mixing with the lubricating oil, they become a menace to expensive engine parts.

Shell Motor Oil avoids this danger. It forms a surprisingly small amount of carbon. And what little is deposited in a Shell-lubricated engine is soft, fluffy and sootlike—the kind which actually blows away with the exhaust gases.

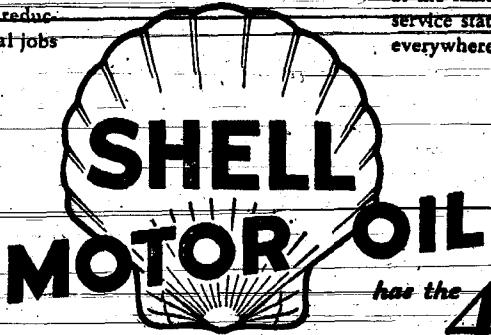

Regular users of Shell Motor Oil are protected from the danger of abrasive carbon particles in the crankcase oil. They report a marked reduction in carbon removal jobs.

and a new freedom from "frozen" piston rings and pitted valves.

Only Nature's richest lubricating crude forms the base of Shell. Refined by the new Shell-developed, low-temperature process... never scorched or weakened. And tested 259 times before it reaches you.

That is why the rich, unvarying quality of Shell Motor Oil provides the four essentials of correct lubrication: Low Carbon Content, Non-Fouling Carbon, Ideal Body at All Operating Temperatures, and Low Pour Point.

STOP AT THE SIGN OF THE SHELL
—And let the Shell Lubrication Chart be your guide. Courteous salesmen await you at the familiar yellow and red service stations. Convenient everywhere.

To the man who keeps a car five years—we say:
"Try Shell for 30 days."

Assure yourself of the mileage you know is in your car by providing proper and safe engine lubrication. A month's trial will show you improved performance, greater power and increased operating efficiency.

There's "GET-UP" and "GO" in 400 "Extra Dry" Shell-Gasolines. Ought to cost more, but it doesn't.

The Children's Corner

Edited by DOROTHY EDMONDS

PART I—
"Many, many years ago," said the old lighthouse keeper to the two children at his knee, "when I was as young as you are now, I had an adventure that I shall never forget. It happened when I lived with my father and mother and little sister in a light-house built on a lonely rock, a mile from shore. You don't see that kind nowadays. All the family lived in the lower part of the tower, and the man of the family tended the lamp and rang the bell when a fog came up. My sister Jane and I used to play on the rocks when the tide was low."

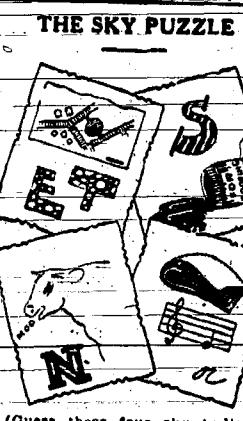

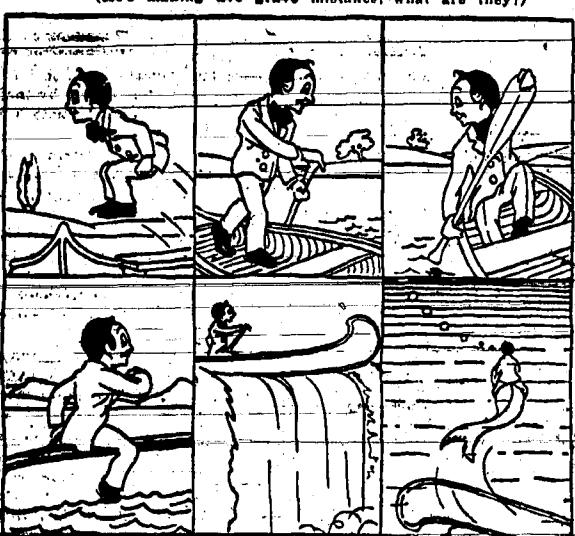

"Now, you know a lighthouse warns the passing ships of dangerous rocks or shallows. Nowadays there are enormous lamps in their towers, encased in glass and shaped so as to send the powerful beams far beyond the horizon. Some of them are whirled about by machinery to make the light flash."

"Our lamp was fixed in one place. There was a bell, too; that was used when the fog was too thick for the light to be seen from very far away. It was rung by clockwork. Sometimes it would ring for days, twice every minute until the fog lifted or the storm was over."

"At the time of which I am telling you, I was eight years old and my sister was three. I had never been allowed to help with the lamp. In fact, I had always been put to bed right after supper."

BILL WILLEY GOES CANOEING

(He's making five grave mistakes; what are they?)

There I met my father who was coming down.

"You are a big boy now, son, he said. Your mother is in the tower. Turn up and help her. I am the tower, and the swirl of foam. All this time the bell was clang-clanging in the tower.

"Suddenly I saw something looming darkly over by the reef. I could make out dimly a long low shape with one end pointed towards the sky. Could it be a ship?"

"In less than a minute bathrobe and slippers were on, and I was out in the kitchen and starting up the stairs."

"Father says I may help," I shouted above the wind. She bundled me up in her slicker, and gave me the hammer and a watch to keep myself by.

I noticed that she seemed worried. While she was showing me how to strike the bell she kept looking down into the darkness. I looked, too, when I could, and saw the thing that was frightening her.

"Way down upon a slippery point of rock stood father, a coil of rope on him, and the waves dashing over him."

"He is trying to save the men on the boat, my mother said in answer to my mute question. Then she hurried back into the little house to trim the lamp."

"While I struck the bell I watched my father. I saw him coil the rope to throw. The ship was not far away, but its outlines were vague in the blurring light of the lantern. Just as he threw the rope a wave splashed over him and he missed his aim. He had to drag it in and try again. This time it was caught and made fast. A small black object clinging to the rope, dropped into the water—then two more."

AGRICULTURAL NOTES

Protein for Poultry

The poultry raiser has no control over the price of feed and eggs, but he can control the rate of egg production at different times of the year.

Eggs are scarce on most general farms during the fall and winter, when egg prices are highest, mainly because the hens don't get enough protein during the winter for good egg production. An egg, aside from the shell, contains 13.4 per cent protein, while poultry flesh contains 21.5 per cent protein. A mixture of corn, wheat and other grains contain only about 10 per cent protein and should be supplemented with a mash containing high-protein feeds, such as meat scraps, fish meal, milk, soybean meal, peanut meal, cottonseed meal, and gluten meal.

Keep the Calf Growing

Swing beef calves which are to be fattened this winter should be fed grain in a creep for 4 to 6 weeks previous to weaning time. They should go into dry lot at the end of the pasture season so as to be ready for market next spring or early summer.

Selecting Pullets for Breeders

Four things should be kept in mind when selecting pullets as potential breeders. First is earliness of maturity. When the pullets are put in the laying house, note those that begin to lay early. Intensity of production is the second factor. In breeds whose backs and shanks are normally yellow, as the Plymouth Rock, Leghorn, and Rhode Island Red, the heaviest laying pullets usually bleach sold as meat for as much as the skins cut the normal color of the backs and formerly brought, and muskrat farms shanks more quickly than those that are in marsh areas have become lay only intermittently. The third profit factor is inheritance. The annual factor is broodiness, which is inheritable in the United States is now and often responsible for reducing around 14,000,000 muskrats. The egg production (this does not apply) requirements in muskrat farms to Leghorns. Persistence of production is to maintain a food supply in late summer and fall, combined with time and rate of molting, depleting their numbers by too close is the last thing to notice. Laying trapping. In some localities muskrat pullets that molt early in their pullet rats are kept on definite premises by year are usually poorer layers than flocks; those that molt late in the fall. It is easy to mark the pullets with different-colored celluloid leg bands for these four things.

It takes about 50 per cent more corn to fatten young hogs when corn alone is used than when the corn is balanced by some feed rich in protein such as soybean meal or tankage.

We suppose that during the season just drawing to a close every Congressman in the U. S. took credit for in the United States less than one that $185,000,000 surplus in the treasury a year for the protection from us.

CLUBBED TO DEATH

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Dean of Men, University of Illinois.

The minister was not complaining exactly; he was simply making a statement of fact.

He had been calling on his parishioners as a faithful pastor should, and he had found no one at home. Father and mother and children were all out attending to their social duties. Nor had he confined his call to the village. Out in the country as well the house doors were closed and the windows down, and no one came when he knocked at the door. Hard roads and the automobile had made it easy for the country dwellers to wander afar. There was a time when country life isolated women especially, and during the winter or the busy season in the spring they might not get outside of the yard for weeks. Not so now.

We all have our clubs and our societies. There is Mason, for instance. He is a professional man with marked athletic and religious tendencies. He has a family, but he belongs to things, as they do. Last week's program was possibly a little more congested than usual—possibly not. There was a business meeting of the officers of his church on Sunday at nine, so that he had to leave the house shortly after breakfast.

Church services are at eleven and he does not like to be absent. He was invited out to dinner at one, there was a tea at the house of one of his acquaintances at four, and he was due to make a short speech at a fraternal meeting at six. The day was pretty well taken up by the time he arrived home, and he had soon very little of his family. The medical society meets on Monday, the Rotary club on Tuesdays, the City Commercial club on Wednesdays, and so on throughout the week. Noon or night he is almost never at home.

These facts affect his family's happiness and comfort very little, however. His wife's time is almost equally taken up with her own organizations. She has her bridge club, and the Ladies' Missionary Society, an art club and a reading circle, and at least two afternoons are given up to golf. One must be in good physical condition if one is to keep up the pace at which we go these days. Mrs. Mason has not very much time at home either. Nor have her children. They are off at school most of the day, and for the evenings they have their social organizations, their dancing clubs, their scout activities and something or other to take them away from home the greater part of the time.

It is generally, We belong to so many things, we are so obsessed with social and professional and religious and political and other activities that we have little time to spend at home. We must be learning a tremendous amount, or doing a great deal of good, or possibly wasting our energies. At any rate we are not overdeveloped home influences. Are we being clubbed to death?

(68, 1928, Western Newspaper Union.)

Farmers' dairy cooperatives received $840,000,000 in 1928 from the sale of dairy products. Of this amount, nearly 42 per cent was from the sale of fluid milk, about 41 per cent from butter, 7 per cent from cream, and 5 per cent from cheese.

We suppose that during the season just drawing to a close every Congressman in the U. S. took credit for in the United States less than one that $185,000,000 surplus in the treasury a year for the protection from us.

Inside Information

Hard-cooked eggs are excellent with Ham Haddle or other smoked fish served in cream sauce or scalloped.

It is not necessary to skim jelly constantly while it is cooking. It is less wasteful to skim once, when the jelly is done, just before you pour it into glasses.

For a good sandwich spread mix peanut butter and strained honey. Another good honey spread is equal parts of thick honey and grated orange rind, slightly salted.

Children will enjoy their meals and take more interest in eating what they are given if they have their own set of dishes and table implements. The knife, fork, and spoon should be easy-to-grasp-and-use; the tumbler for water should fit small hands, and the pitcher for milk should be sturdy, easy to pour from, and not too heavy to hold. Very young children can soon learn to feed themselves without mishaps if given the right articles to handle. At first it may be necessary to guard the floor and furniture against spilling, but after a few accidents the child will be quite independent.

The proper care of shoes in wet or cold weather greatly prolongs their life. Thorough greasing with suitable oils or greases is necessary for all shoes worn for out-of-doors work. Neats'-foot, cod and castor oils are among the best materials for greasing. Tallow and wool grease are also good. First brush the soles and uppers well and then warm the shoes carefully, taking care not to get them very hot. Apply warm oil or grease no hotter than the hand can bear, with a swab of wool or flannel, and rub it well into the leather. Work the grease in with especial care where the sole is joined to the upper. Let the greased shoes dry in a warm but not hot place. Whenever the leather begins to dry or fails to turn off water well, this should be done.

Include a "surprise" of some sort in the school lunch box. If you think back to your own school days you will remember how monotonous lunches used to be. A few nuts, raisins, dates, or figs, a special kind of cookie, or an especially choice fruit—something that can be saved until last—will be greatly appreciated. If there is time wrap the "surprise" in an interesting way.

Good quality silk is durable material, but it cannot be washed like cotton. Use only lukewarm water for silk garments, for both washing and rinsing. Make good soaps of a neutral soap, and wash with as little rubbing as possible. Be careful that the silk does not come in contact with washing powders which bleach, because these powders may rot the material.

Smothered ham with sweet potatoes is just right for these fall days. Cut a slice of smoked ham into pieces suitable for serving. Brown these lightly on both sides, and arrange them to cover the bottom of a baking dish. Spread 3 cups of raw, sliced sweet potatoes over the ham. Sprinkle with 2 tablespoons sugar, and add 1 cup of water and 1 tablespoon of butter or ham drippings. Cover the dish. Bake slowly until the ham is tender. Baste the potatoes occasionally with the gravy. Brown the top well when the ham and potatoes are done.

The innocent little boy who used to believe in Santa Claus has grown up and now believes all the "dope" on the stock market that comes in the tipsy sheets.

Speed Spirit Stamina

beyond anything you have ever known at its price

Watch the Pontiac Big Six on the open road, revealing top speeds such as no other car in its field can match. See it leap eagerly ahead at a green light, accelerating with unrivaled snap and spirit... Pontiac is equally far ahead of its field in stamina and long life, due to many wear-resisting features such as crankcase ventilation which prevents dilution of engine oil—positive full pressure lubrication at all speeds—and the Harmonic Balancer which counteracts torsional vibration in the crankshaft... Come in today. Learn how easily you can own and enjoy the finest car the market affords at its low price.

Pontiac Big Six, $745, f. o. b. Pontiac, Mich., plus delivery charges. Bumper, spring covers and heavy shock absorbers regular equipment at slight extra cost. General service plan available at minimum rates.

Consider the delivered price as well as the lower (an 8%) price when comparing automobile values. Other Pontiac delivered prices include only authorized charges for freight and delivery and the charge for any additional accessories or financing desired.

Mrs. Frank Rood was called to Elm Hall this week to attend the funeral of an aged aunt.

Mrs. George Barber entertained a few friends Tuesday evening honoring her sister-in-law, Mrs. Irwin Haskins, the occasion being her birthday. Late in the evening Mrs. Barber served a three course lunch. Mrs. Haskins received some lovely gifts.

Invitations have been received in Grayling to the wedding of Lewis Lantz Michelson and Constance Atwater Stanborough at Jefferson Ave. Presbyterian church, Detroit, Michigan, Thursday, November 21st. The groom, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Michelson and grandson of the late Nels Michelson, is well known to Grayling people.

Mrs. Herbert Stephan entertained the "Smart Set" at her home Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Floyd Conrad (Ethel Stillwell) of Detroit was the guest of honor. Prizes were won by Mrs. Stephan and Mrs. LeRoy Scott. The hostess, assisted by the committee, served a delicious lunch late in the afternoon. The club will meet with Mrs. Neal McDaniels this Thursday.

New electric lights are being installed along highway U. S. 27, beginning near the golf course and continuing north of the hospital. There will be 12 lights in all and of 250 candlepower with Holophane reflectors. They will replace 10 lights of 100 candlepower each. This is going to make Grayling the best lighted city in Northern Michigan.

Did you ever notice that tobacco is always clean? If a man drops a piece of meat, no matter how clean the floor may be, he will either give it a kick or pick it up and lay it to one side. He will never eat it. But let him drop his plug of tobacco on the ground and no matter how dirty the spot where it fell, he will pick it up and give it a careless swipe on his coat sleeve or on the bosom of his pants and then take a chew with greater relish than ever.

You don't need a chimney sweep to clean the soot from the chimney—all you need is common salt. The fire should first be put in good condition with a substantial bed of hot fuel on top, and about a pound of dry salt sprinkled on the fire close to the furnace door. Shut the door and open all the dampers so the fire will burn as rapidly as the drafts permit. Keep the dampers wide open until the fumes have disappeared, about a half hour. Exceptionally heavy deposits of soot may require an additional dose of salt.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Vallad entertained a large number of young people at their home Thursday evening. The guests had to climb through a window where a ghost welcomed them, surrounded by black cats, witches and goblins. Things looked pretty "spooky" by candlelight with a ghost peaking at you from every corner. Games and visiting were enjoyed. Herbert Stephan won the mule prize. The hostess passed out numbers and each guest had to eat supper with whoever had the same number. Mrs. Vallad served a delicious midnight lunch. Everyone had a splendid time.

Gov. Fred W. Green dropped into town out of the clouds Monday, nodded a head and passed a smile to Rube Babbitt and shook himself saying that "this isn't what's cracked up to be," meaning cold weather flying, and then hopped into a car with R. A. Wright, superintendent of the AuSable Furs, Inc., and drove away. They drove to a place near Luzerne to look over a pheasant ranch. Mr. Wright returned the same day but the Governor remained to Wednesday when he returned to Grayling and the same plane that brot him here returned and scooped him up again, flying away to some other place. The plane was driven by H. F. Harper, president of the Izaak Walton League of Michigan.

Harry Horton of Flint was in Grayling recently having stopped off while enroute home from Ontonagon where he was a witness in a murder trial in which his former wife was accused of murdering her second husband, George Bentley, on July 11th last, at Whitepine, Mich. Horton testified on the side of the people. At one time Horton resided in Frederic He was divorced from the present Mrs. Bentley in 1917.

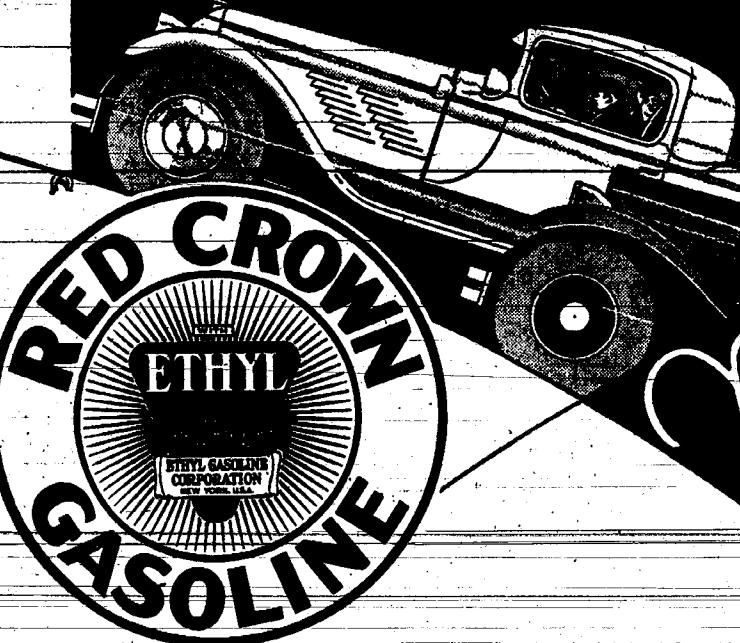

The deer hunting season begins Friday, November 15th. Many of the local hunters are getting ready to invade the wildwoods in quest of their quarry. While some will go into the upper peninsula for their hunting, where their parties can have a fine time together, others will content themselves near home. There seems to be a plenty of deer for everyone no matter where they may go. And it's great sport too. The writer has never shot a deer and probably never shall for one of these fine animals raises its head and looks one into the eyes we doubt if we could conscientiously pull a trigger. But deer seem to have been made to hunt and we are glad to see others enjoy the sport.

Dr. R. B. Howard and wife of Kentucky, arrived in Grayling this noon and already have rented an apartment at the Burke building where they will be at home some time during the early part of December. In the mean time they are occupying rooms at Mrs. Carl Sorenson's. Dr. Howard is director of the Consolidated District health department, serving the counties of Crawford, Roscommon, Missaukee and Kalkaska. This department is affiliated with the Senator James Couzens ten million dollar endowment fund for health work among children. Dr. Howard says that permanent offices will be established here in Grayling and that it will require an assistant and probably a couple of nurses to assist him in the work.

Doctor Suggests
Bonkura, Happy
Lady Finds Rell f

Constipation, Nervousness and Annoying Pain Yielded Quickly
To New Treatment

That Bonkura is the ideal treatment for stomach and digestive disorders is proven by the statement of Mrs.
R. E. Crossette, R. 50, Fairfield Ave.,
Lansing, Mich., who said:

Prizes were given for the best and funniest costumes. First prize went to J. P. Cullen for best costume, second to Helen Isenbauer for the funniest costume, each with many close seconds.

Refreshments were served and the festivities brought to a close in the early hours of Nov. 1st.

Many regret that no further parties were announced.

However, we are assured by Mr.
Paul Feldhausen that when the "Blue Goose" is completed near "Wildwood" community meetings will be held as often as we can get people to come.

Bonkura works quickly yet other remedy did, I had previously tried. Instead of increasing the doses as I had to do with other medicines
Bonkura gave me such splendid re-pains have left my back, limbs, and feet and I can now sleep well again and do my housework easily. My ner-
